

The reported of this article compares two diagram of soya prices in washington market with another in Iran, during 6 months ago.

The first one has shown a straight and stable line with lowest changes in prices; on the other hand diagram of Iran is consist of high changes in prices.

The author of this article, showing these two figures and the operation of poultry producers suggests that stable prices of soya and corn is the recommend`d solution for solving poultry industry`s crises.

Recent Global Researches on decreasing energy expenses in farms

“Damparvaran” magazine has published an educative and scientific article about husbandry farms for it`s Persian addressers in this vollume, here, it`s an abstract of the article:

“As we obserre energy expenses such as: heat and calorie, power, water, gaz are increasing day to day; consequently each producer is following for methods on decreasing these expenses.

In Kyoto Protocol Conference, it`s obligated toward all countries take more care of global energies.

According to traditional methods, the produced heat weather was ascend directly towards nests; while in that way 100 percent energy was needed. And there was no dry weather in the farm; so farmers have to use additional air conditioner.....

The new manager Director of National Union of Poultry Industry is elected and engaged his job.

Subsidiary valid-cards for milk and dairy products is the best supportive solution

Mr. Mansoor Ansari, editorial in chief and head manager of “Damparvaran” refers to by- cash cooperative which our state granted to raw – milk producers; It`s said that it`s about 600 millirard tommans.

On his belief these kind of subsidiraries ends to financial corrup-tions and also injures the comparative productivity. Our state have to support our milk and meat producers; while this should be operated by giving digital cards of dairy products and milk for only 4 weaker groups of society. Consequently free prices of milk and meat products will be concluded to high beneficial comparative production. On the other side 4 weaker groups of society will be supported by state.

Positive Effects of Geneva Agreements on Agriculture

“Damparvaran” has evaluated “decreasing 15 percent of raw materials for husbandry and farming; and it has quoted of Dr, Kalantari, the head secretary of “Khaaneh –e- Keshavarz”. Dr, Mehrabani, The head of society of one – day – chicken producers:

It`s a fact that our main problem was banking services for money transitions before Ge-neva agreements: while obviously we could be able pass by food and agricultural goods boycotts before these agreements.

Damparvaran`s reports refers that if these boycotts would be ended gradually up to one year later, our proper economical relations with 5+1 countries will be highly benfital for our agricultural and commercial sectors, too.

A glance towards 100 days report of jihad-e- agriculture ministry
